Alan Cornish (Co-opted Governor)

Alan has been a Governor since 2004 and has lived locally in Woodmancote since moving from Newport (South Wales) in 1999. Alan and his wife have two adult children and three grandchildren aged 13, 9 and 5. A Banker by profession, Alan's career took him from his native Devon to Somerset then to Cardiff and Newport where he retired as Human Resources Director for Wales for his Bank. Following retirement Alan worked at a Doctors Practice in Cardiff, managing a fund holding budget of some £2m as well as assisting a firm of Estate Agents on the financial side. After moving to Woodmancote Alan took on the position of Clerk to the Bishop's Cleeve Parish Council and continued in this role for five years. Alan is also involved with a local Rotary Club raising money for local and international charities and he and his wife enjoy walking and going on holiday.

Philip (Phil) Johnson (Co-opted Governor)

Phil is a resident of Prestbury, married, with three sons and three grandsons, and has served as a Governor for twelve years. Professionally he is a Chartered Town Planner who has worked for a number of authorities throughout the country, ending as Director of Planning for Northumberland. On moving to Cheltenham in 1994 Phil became a lecturer in the Environment Department at the University of Gloucestershire. Phil is now retired enjoying walking, theatre, travel and family.

John W.Coopey MBE (Co-opted Governor)

John was born in the City of Gloucester and is a Freeman of the City. Educated at Cheltenham Grammar School, he left to join the Gloucestershire Constabulary as a Cadet. John served in the RAF during his National Service and on being de-mobilised returned to the Gloucestershire Constabulary as a Constable. John served the force for 33years rising to the rank of Superintendent and retired in 1987. John then entered the Coroner's service as a Coroner's Officer. Whilst there he set up the Coroner's Officers Association for England and Wales to standardise the training of Officers and provide a progressive Training programme. This has resulted in there now being a University Course in Coronial Investigations at Teesside University and has also resulted in John receiving the MBE. John retired in 1999 but is still involved with the Association, being its national President. John is married and has three daughters with seven grandchildren. He regularly assists with driving the disabled and special needs children in the Cheltenham Area and is a member of the Rotary Club, having been in the organisation for some 30years.
